Why do I need a press release?

- Increase exposure to your fans and potential music industry executives.
- To help your career thrive and flourish.
- A press release/music review can make a big difference in merely existing and actually being known.

What are the benefits for using our services?

- Lowest price you will find for the quality of work we provide.
- Well-written press releases and music reviews.
- Will not only distribute to media outlets of your choice, but will also distribute through other media channels.
- Conduct research to help craft the perfect press release to make it newsworthy.
- Provide a draft to be reviewed by client before submitting the final draft to media outlets.
- Metrics available to determine how many contacts opened and read your release.
- Key-word tag your release for on-line legacy benefits.
- Utilization of the release via social media.

How it Works:

Send us an e-mail (lorneth@numbersevenmusic.com), providing information about your upcoming event. Who, what, where, when and the date of the event. We will also need a high resolution picture, contact information including your band's website URL, and where you would like the press release sent. We will send a confirmation e-mail stating that we received your request.
